sharing of life and destiny with other people, their solidarity with the efforts of all for whatever is noble and good. Let us suppose that, in addition, they radiate in an altogether simple and unaffected way their faith in values that go beyond current values, and their hope in something that is not seen and that one would not dare to imagine. Through this wordless witness these Christians stir up irresistible questions in the hearts of those who see how they live: Why are they like this? Why do they live in this way? What or who is it that inspires them? Why are they in our midst? Such a witness is already a silent proclamation of the Good News and a very powerful and effective one. Here we have an initial act of evangelization. The above questions will ask, whether they are people to whom Christ has never been proclaimed, or baptized people who do not practice, or people who live as nominal Christians but according to principles that are in no way Christian, or people who are seeking, and not without suffering, something or someone whom they sense but cannot name. Other questions will arise, deeper and more demanding ones, questions evoked by this witness which involves presence, sharing, solidarity, and which is an essential element, and generally the first one, in evangelization. All Christians are called to this witness, and in this way they can be real evangelizers.

At different moments in the Church's history and also in the Second Vatican Council, the family has well deserved the beautiful name of "domestic Church." This means that there should be found in every Christian family the various aspects of the entire Church. Furthermore, the family, like the Church, ought to be a place where the Gospel is transmitted and from which the Gospel radiates. In a family which is conscious of this mission, all the members evangelize and are evangelized. The parents not only communicate the Gospel to their children, but from their children they can themselves receive the same Gospel as deeply lived by them.

Psalm 128

O blessed are those who fear the Lord and walk in his ways.

Psalm 128 is often a psalm used for weddings in the Roman rite. The psalmist makes a statement that the ever-reliable God will bless the reverent. God's blessing is concrete: satisfaction and prosperity, a fertile spouse and abundant children. The perspective is that of the husband, ordinarily the ruler and representative of the household to the community. The last verses extend the blessing to all the people for generations to come. In the Liturgy of the Hours the psalm is prayed in the person of Christ, the bridegroom.

It begins with a wisdom style statement about the good fortune of one who fears the Lord and then it describes what form that good fortune takes, the emphasis being on happiness in the family. It ends with a blessing formula invoking the Lord in the Holy place. "Fearing the Lord" is really the same thing as keeping his commandments. "For us, fear of the Lord is a part of love; and its expression is the practice of perfect charity: obey the counsels of God, hold fast to his commandments, and trust his promises." St. Hilary of Poitiers

The Family and the Eucharist

The Eucharist is the very source of Christian marriage. The Eucharistic Sacrifice, in fact, represents Christ's covenant of love with the Church, sealed with His blood on the Cross. In this sacrifice of the New and Eternal Covenant, Christian spouses encounter the source from which their own marriage covenant flows, is interiorly structured and continuously renewed. As a representation of Christ's sacrifice of love for the Church, the Eucharist is a fountain of charity. In the Eucharistic gift of charity the Christian family finds the foundation and soul of its "communion" and its "mission": by partaking in the Eucharistic bread, the different members of the Christian family become one body, which reveals and shares in the wider unity of the Church. Their sharing in the Body of Christ that is "given up" and in His Blood that is "shed" becomes a never-ending source of missionary and apostolic dynamism for the Christian family.

Inspired and sustained by the new commandment of love, the Christian family welcomes, respects and serves every human being, considering each one in his or her dignity as a person and as a child of God. It should be so especially between husband and wife and within the family, through a daily effort to promote a truly personal community, initiated and fostered by an inner communion of love. This way of life should then be extended to the wider circle of the ecclesial community of which the Christian family is a part. Thanks to love within the family, the Church can and ought to take on a more homelike or family dimension, developing a more human and fraternal style of relationships. Love, too, goes beyond our brothers and sisters of the same faith since "everybody is my brother or sister." In each individual, especially in the poor, the weak, and those who suffer or are unjustly treated, love knows how to discover the face of Christ, and discover a fellow human being to be loved and served.

La Sagrada Familia de Jesus, Maria y Jose

Confianza en Dios

El relato de San Mateo sobre la huída a Egipto gana protagonismo hoy mientras continuamos siguiendo el relato de la Sagrada Familia. Una vez más, el ángel del Señor se le aparece a José en sueños, diciéndole que lleve al niño Jesús y a su madre a Egipto. José acata la orden y los guía en un viaje que debe haber sido agotador. San Mateo no nos da detalles pero podemos imaginar cuán difícil debe haber sido este viaje. ¿Dónde comieron? ¿Dónde se alojaron? ¿Cómo eran los caminos? ¿Pudo encontrar trabajo José? La Sagrada Familia sobrevivió en gran medida porque depositó su confianza en Dios. Esto es exactamente lo que la fiesta de hoy nos llama a ser, la familia sagrada de Dios.

MISSA DA SAGRADA FAMILIA

" NA CASA DE MEU PAI"

Celebrar a família é celebrar o amor. Celebrar o amor é celebrar a vida. E celebrar a vida é celebrar o próprio Deus, que do amor é da vida e a fonte. Bem que o Papa fez questão de devolver a família aquela dignidade que lhe está sendo roubada: Santuário da vida, lugar sagrado onde a vida e aceita, cresce e é defendida contra os golpes da cultura da morte".

Contudo, é bom lembrar que a vida não é propriedade exclusiva da família ou de uma comunidade ou de um partido. Ela é propriedade de Deus. E isso significa que cada filho, assim como Jesus, é vocacionado a prestar serviço" na casa do Pai".

Estar a serviço" na casa do Pai" significa estar à disposição de Deus ou a serviço de todos os filhos de Deus. Zelar pela divulgação do amor universal, pela libertação e pela salvação de toda a humanidade. Ultrapassando, dessa forma, os interesses e os limites do grupo familiar.

Jesus amou sua família. Nela viveu, se alimentou e cresceu. Não, porém, como filho unicamente atento aos desejos de Maria e de José. Mas atento também aos planos do Pai celeste.

Portanto, não é o anarquismo e a desobediência a autoridade paterna que, fugindo de casa, Jesus pretende promover. Só quer lembrar aos jovens que o amor cristão não pode permanecer aprisionado entre as paredes domésticas. E que eles não devem se fazer de surdos aos problemas da comunidade humana.

Hoje, todo o homem autêntico, mesmo sem ser cristão, sabe que é cidadão do mundo. O cristão, porém, deve sê-lo com maior razão. Do contrário, ele não seria cristão e sim individualista.

E se os pais ainda teimassem em cultivar sentimentos de posse com relação a seus filhos, bom seria que procurassem meditar e entender aquelas palavras: " é preciso que eu fique a serviço, na casa de meu Pai".

Pe. Virgilio.

Devotion to the Holy Child

Around the world it is common to put up a Nativity scene either outside or inside the Church. These pictures are from 2006 and show various scenes locally and in Italy. Above is the outside scene in front of the Basilica of St. Francis in Assisi. Below is the display in the I Monachi Restaurant in Assisi.

Peter, some of the figures were donated to the Church by St. Vincent Pallotti, a Roman priest and Founder who was a friend of St. Gaspar's.
